

Patch

This component is created and managed by the various Terrain components. Its job is to handle rendering of a single area of a procedural planet.

Material

This allows you to override the material applied to this patch, as well as its children.